M&G Absolute Return Bond Fund

a sub-fund of M&G Investment Funds (10)

Sterling Class I – Accumulation shares ISIN no. GB00BD6FFN71

Managed by M&G Securities Limited

Objective and investment policy

The fund aims to provide a combination of capital growth and income of at least the Sterling Overnight Index Average (SONIA) plus 2.5% a year, before charges, in any market conditions and over any three-year period.

The fund aims to achieve this while seeking to limit losses and minimise the degree to which the value of its assets changes over time. Managing the fund in this way reduces its ability to achieve returns significantly above SONIA plus 2.5%.

SONIA reflects the average interest rate that banks pay to borrow sterling overnight from other financial institutions.

There is no guarantee that the fund will achieve a positive return over any period. Investors may not get back the original amount they invested.

Core investment: At least 70% of the fund is invested in bonds (including fixed, variable and index-linked bonds), currencies, cash and near cash. These assets may be issued anywhere in the world and denominated in any currency. The fund typically invests directly in these assets. It may also invest via derivatives or through funds.

Derivatives usage: For investment purposes and to reduce risk and cost.

Strategy in brief: The fund managers take a flexible approach, investing across different bond markets and currencies according to where they identify value. The fund managers have the freedom to adjust the fund's sensitivity to interest rate movements, as well as the blend of bond and currency exposures based on an assessment of macroeconomic, asset, sector and stock-level factors. The fund typically aims to have a high level of diversification in individual bond selection and across investment themes and sources of return. The fund manager seeks to achieve the performance objective while managing the fund's volatility and limiting losses during difficult market conditions.

Benchmark: SONIA + 2.5%

The benchmark is a target which the fund seeks to achieve. The rate has been chosen as the fund's benchmark as it is an achievable performance target and best reflects the scope of the fund's investment policy. The benchmark is used solely to measure the fund's performance objective and does not constrain the fund's portfolio construction.

The fund is actively managed. The fund manager has complete freedom in choosing which assets to buy, hold and sell in the fund.

For unhedged and currency hedged share classes, the benchmark is shown in the share class currency.

Risk and reward profile

■ The above risk and reward indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of this share class. This Share Class is categorised in risk class 3 because its Net Asset Value has shown very low to medium rises and falls in value historically.

■ The risk number shown is not guaranteed and may change over time.

■ The lowest risk number does not mean risk free.

The main risks that could affect performance are set out below:

■ The value and income from the fund's assets will go down as well as up. This will cause the value of your investment to fall as well as rise. There is no guarantee that the fund will achieve its objective and you may get back less than you originally invested.

■ An 'absolute return' fund may not move in line with market trends or fully benefit from a positive market environment.

■ Investments in bonds are affected by interest rates, inflation and credit ratings. It is possible that bond issuers will not pay interest or return the capital. All of these events can reduce the value of bonds held by the fund.

■ The fund may use derivatives to profit from an expected rise or fall in the value of an asset. Should the asset's value vary in an unexpected way, the fund will incur a loss. The fund's use of derivatives may be extensive and exceed the value of its assets (leverage). This has the effect of magnifying the size of losses and gains, resulting in greater fluctuations in the value of the fund.

■ The fund can be exposed to different currencies. Movements in currency exchange rates may adversely affect the value of your investment.

■ Investing in emerging markets involves a greater risk of loss due to greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks, among other factors. There may be difficulties in buying, selling, safekeeping or valuing investments in such countries.

■ In exceptional circumstances where assets cannot be fairly valued, or have to be sold at a large discount to raise cash, we may temporarily suspend the fund in the best interest of all investors.

■ The fund could lose money if a counterparty with which it does business becomes unwilling or unable to repay money owed to the fund.

■ Operational risks arising from errors in transactions, valuation, accounting, and financial reporting, among other things, may also affect the value of your investments.
