

Fund Overview

The Fund aims to deliver an annualised net return of 7% to 8% over the medium to long-term in anything but the bleakest of market conditions. It will do so via an actively managed exposure to a diversified portfolio of defined return investments linked to global equity indices. It invests primarily in UK Government Bonds to provide the return of capital to investors over time, alongside a portfolio of global, liquid derivatives that generate the return on capital. Due to the nature of the investments, the fund's behaviour in different market scenarios should be more predictable and the returns more probable.

Monthly commentary

In May, western world economic news was dominated by the US debt ceiling and whether or not they would pass a bill to extend it. Although it was always likely that they would, equity markets were still a little jittery. In the UK, it was still inflation news that continued to be the driver of equity market performance. Although inflation is dropping, it didn't drop in April as much as it was forecasted to. With investors then factoring in potentially more interest rate hikes than previously thought the UK Large Cap market ended the month down 5%. The US Large Cap market was up 0.7% and the EU down 2.28%. The Atlantic House Defined Returns Fund held up well in these conditions, being down 0.46% for the month.

Despite the poor performance of the UK market in May and considering most of the fund's investments are exposed to this market, there were four maturities (about 10% of the fund) in the month. These investments had annual coupons of 8% but were replaced by new trades with coupons of around 9.3%. As older trades mature and new trades with better terms are placed, the future yield of the fund increases. In addition to increasing future yields, managers have been able to build in more protection within the new trades. The maturities had a 30% positive return cushion whereas the new trades have 40%. With forward expectations of interest rates looking like they will remain at elevated levels, the fund looks to leverage this environment and aim to continue to replace maturing trades with more attractive ones.

Forward Looking Scenario Analysis &amp; Intrinsic Value

The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on current derivative market conditions and are not an exact or reliable indicator. What you get will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the investment.

Although the Fund has a medium to long-term objective to deliver an annualised return of 7%-8% over the long term, the scenario analysis is calculated over shorter term periods for greater accuracy.

The Fund's actual returns may differ from the estimates shown above and are subject to daily price movement. Future performance may also be subject to taxation, that could change in the future. The value of investments can go down as well as up and you may not get back the full amount invested.

Estimated Fund Move or 'Intrinsic Value'

The intrinsic value is the aggregate terminal value of the Fund considering estimated fees over the relevant period. The table above shows that, for example, if an investor bought the Fund today and none of the markets on which the investments were based moved between now and when the investments mature, the Fund would increase by 17.1%, a terminal value of GBP 2.1372 (based on current NAV of GBP 1.8251). What this does not tell us is the yield that is represented by these intrinsic values.

Average Time to Holdings' Maturity or Duration

The table above also shows the weighted average time to maturity of the investments held within the Fund. Currently this is 1.96 years because, at current market levels, most of the current investments are likely to mature within 1 to 3 years. This number gives the investor an idea of how long it will take for them to earn the Equivalent Annualised Return.

Equivalent Annualised Return or Intrinsic Value (Annualised)

The table also shows the current expected return of the Fund considering estimated fees for certain movements in the underlying indices. For example, if markets do not move, we would expect the Fund to yield 8.4% given its current make-up. You can also see that we would expect a positive return if the market falls 20% and then stays at that level until all investments mature.

Calculations do not consider credit spread movements of the issuers of the securities. The Mark to Market of the securities and therefore the NAV of the Fund will decrease as credit spreads widen and vice versa if spreads narrow. The value of investments and income from them can go down and you may get back less than originally invested. There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its objective. The level and basis of tax is subject to change and will depend on individual circumstances. The Fund invests in derivatives for investment purposes, for efficient portfolio management and/ or to protect against exchange risks. Derivatives are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the asset from which their value is derived. A small movement in the value of the underlying asset can cause a large movement in the value of the derivative. This can increase the sizes of losses and gains, causing the value of a derivative investment to fluctuate and the Fund could lose more than the amount invested.

The Fund invests in high quality government and corporate bonds. All bonds will be rated at least A- by Standard and Poors at outset. If any of the bonds the Fund owns suffer credit events the performance of the Fund could be adversely affected. Other risks the Fund is exposed to include but are not limited to, credit and counterparty risk, possible changes in exchange rates, interest rates and inflation, changing expectations of future market volatility, changing expectations of equity market correlation and changing dividend expectations.

A decision may be taken at any time to terminate the arrangements for the marketing of the Fund in any jurisdiction in which it is currently being marketed.
