MANAGER COMMENTARY

February proved to be a mixed bag for the markets. In general, there were gains in equities while the bond markets suffered losses. Bond yields in developed markets increased, and hopes of early interest rate cuts were dashed. In the United States, the index of the top 500 companies rose by a healthy 5.17%², but this was dwarfed by the Shanghai Composite index increase of 8.12%². The Japanese Topix didn't do too badly either, with an increase of just under 5%². In contrast, the UK top 100 stock index barely changed, while the all-stocks index was down by 0.24%².

In the bond markets, the yields of 10-year US Treasuries and UK Gilts increased by 7.24%² and 8.56%², respectively. The DXY (US Dollar Index) was marginally stronger, ending the month at 104.16², up by 0.86%².

February proved to be a strong month for the fund, with a return of 3.24%³, outperforming the benchmark return of 1.78%³. Except for Europe and Asian ex-Japan, all other asset classes contributed positively to performance. The Fund's exposure to Chinese and emerging markets equities had the best performance, with returns of 11%³ and 5%³, respectively. At holdings level, the best performer was the FSSA All China Fund, which returned 10.5%³ for the month, followed by a 6.5%³ return for the Aikya Global Emerging markets. There were no changes to the holdings.
